2.3 Children and Youth in the Library
Children and youth are an integral part of our community and are welcomed by our libraries. It is necessary that parents/guardians ensure appropriate and non-disruptive use of the library by young people. Library staff will always demonstrate due care for young people in the library, however they are unable to act as child carers and must not be put in the position of acting as parent or guardian. Library staff have no authority to ensure that young people remain within the library if left unattended and cannot be responsible for any incidents that occur outside the library.

2.3.1 Conditions
• Children and youth using the library service must always be attended and adequately supervised by a parent/guardian.
• At all times responsibility for the welfare and behaviour of children and youth using the library service rests with their parent/guardian.
• In the event children or youth are left unattended at closing time library staff will attempt to contact their parent/guardian before contacting the Police.
• Parents/guardians must be aware that the library is both a public place and a work area. There may be times when the library may close unexpectedly.
• Library staff reserve the right to request proper conduct and to determine inappropriate behaviour which may offend, injure or disturb other library users, staff, facilities, or items.

2.3.2 Definitions

• No staff member is permitted to escort or drive any child/youth left unattended at the library to any destination.

2.4 Non-compliance
Persons, including children and youth, not complying with any Library guidelines may be subject to sanctions as outlined below.

2.4.1 Compliance request
Initially a patron (and/or their parent/guardian) will be verbally informed of the issue and asked to comply with library guidelines.

2.4.2 Suspension
Patrons (and/or their parent/guardian) who fail to heed the initial approach/first warning (‘Compliance request’ above) will:
• Be given a second verbal warning and opportunity to comply, including being informed that failure to comply will result in being required to immediately leave the library premises.
• Be asked to leave the library premises if they don’t immediately comply.

Patrons who are suspended from library access will not be permitted to be on the library premises for the remainder of that day and for the entirety of the next open day. This duration may be extended at the discretion of library staff, depending on factors including the severity of the incident and whether the patron has previously been suspended.

2.4.3 Entry bans
For serious breaches of library guidelines and/or patrons who continually fail to comply with guidelines and direction from staff, including those who have been suspended previously, the following will apply:
• Verbal notification that they are banned from Bundaberg Regional Libraries’ premises.
• The ban is initially for the remainder of the current day and for the entirety of the next open day, unless the situation is judged as serious or the patron is a repeat offender, in which case the initial ban period may be longer, per the discretion of library staff.
Where possible written notification of the ban will also be provided.
The duration of the ban will depend on the nature and severity of the infringement and whether the patron has previously been banned.
The minimum period of a ban is 24 hours; the maximum period of a ban is life.
Entering or attempting to enter the library during the term of a ban is grounds for extending the ban.

A person who has been banned may appeal the duration of the ban.
- All appeals should be made in writing and addressed to the Manager Library Services.
- The appeal will be considered by the Manager Library Services and/or the Director of the Department or their nominated delegate. Where necessary the appeal may be referred to the CEO.
- The determination of the appeal will be made by consideration of available incident reports and records, and any case put forward by the person seeking the appeal.
- A ban may be revoked or its duration reduced on appeal.

Overlaps occur between the picture book and children’s fiction collection, and between children’s fiction and youth fiction. - Enable children to discover the enjoyment and appreciation of reading for pleasure and information;
- Provide materials to stimulate the child’s imagination;

This collection provides a range of resources in print and non-print formats for young adults in the 12-17 year age range. There is an overlap between the children’s collection and the youth collection, and between the youth collection and the adult collection.

- Recognise the needs and interests of teenagers;
- Act as a link between the children’s and adult collections;
- Provide a focal point for teenagers in the library, which recognises their special needs;

• The children’s and youth collections cover a variety of levels of difficulty and depth to meet the needs of their readers’ developing interests and abilities.

9.4.5 Fiction
• The collection caters for a variety of reader interests, tastes and reading skills. A wide range of genres, popular bestsellers, classics, Australian authors and award winners are represented.

9.4.14 Literacy materials
This basic collection is for adults, youth, and children who wish to improve their literacy skills.

9.4.15 Puzzles and games

9.6 Weeding
Materials which are outdated, badly worn or mutilated, no longer in demand or of interest, or for which space is no longer available, will be removed routinely from stock. Weeded items may be discarded, held for a future library book sale, or passed on to Council’s recycling facility.

9.7 Public input
At all times, consideration will be given to purchases recommended by library users. The same selection standards will be applied as for all new purchases. Limits will apply to the number of purchase requests that can be made.
9.8 Controversial works and censorship
- The library recognises that some works are controversial and may offend some users. It should be appreciated that selection is based on the merits of the work in relation to collection building and to meet the interests of readers.
- Library materials will not necessarily be marked or identified to show approval or otherwise of contents.
- It is the responsibility of parents or guardians to assess the suitability of materials used by children.

9.9 Selection and educational institutions
The libraries’ collections are selected to provide information services to the community as a whole, rather than those specifically attending educational institutions. Existing library resources will be used to provide information for students.

9.10 Review of the Collection Development Guidelines
The Collection Development Guidelines will be reviewed every five years to ensure that information included in the guidelines remains true and accurate, and to allow for any changes in guidelines in the future.
